

ABSTRACT

Adenosine receptor agonists, particularly an agonist which binds to the A₃ adenosine receptor, are used for induction of production or secretion of G-CSF within the body, prevention or treatment of toxic side effects of a drug or prevention or treatment of leukopenia, particularly drug-induced leukopenias; and inhibition of 5 abnormal cell growth and proliferation.